

ELG217 Language and Society

Level: 2

Credit Units: 5 Credit Units

Language: ENGLISH

Presentation Pattern: EVERY SEMESTER

Synopsis:

This course builds on students' foundational understanding of key constructs in the study of sociolinguistics and discourse. The course examines critically the connections between language and culture, gender, power and public policies, through relevant theoretical frameworks.

Topics:

- Language and society: Basic issues
- Language and Power
- Language planning and policy
- Language and gender
- Language in context
- Language and culture

Learning Outcome:

- Explain the connections between language and culture, gender, power and public policies
- Demonstrate with examples the connections between language and culture, gender, power and public policies
- Discuss the major theoretical frameworks in the study of language and society
- Examine case studies and other sources of data to explain critically the connections between language and culture, gender, power and public policies
- Analyze data using the major theoretical frameworks
- Appraise the explanatory value of particular theoretical frameworks

Assessment Strategies (Evening Class):

Components	Description	Weightage Allocation (%)
Overall Continuous Assessment	TUTOR-MARKED ASSIGNMENT 1	20
	TUTOR-MARKED ASSIGNMENT 2	30
Overall Examinable Components	Written Exam	50
Total		100