

LOG313 Supplier Relationship Management

Level: 3

Credit Units: 5 Credit Units

Language: ENGLISH

Presentation Pattern: EVERY JAN

Synopsis:

Traditionally, Supplier Management focuses on the management of ‘post award activities.’ It is still critical today to ensure that key suppliers with high value, high risk contracts will perform satisfactorily throughout the contract life cycle. As such, this course provides thorough coverage of the strategies, tools and techniques to manage suppliers to meet their KPIs and to reduce risk exposure.

On the other hand, the competitiveness of an organisation is essentially defined by the capabilities of its supply base. Therefore, it is crucial to manage suppliers effectively to extract maximum potential from their supply base. This course duly covers the topics in Supplier Development, in that buying organisations take initiatives to improve the performance and capabilities of suppliers to meet the needs of buying organisations better.

Topics:

- Supplier performance management
- Rationalising the supply base
- Buyer-supplier relationships
- Supplier development
- Managing supply base risk
- Managing sustainability in the supply base
- Proactive purchasing
- Supplier preferencing
- Tiering of suppliers
- Partnering – supplier development
- The Bensaou model of relationship management
- Best practices and case studies
