

SOC265e Urban Sociology

Level: 2

Credit Units: 5 Credit Units

Language: ENGLISH

Presentation Pattern: EVERY JAN

E-Learning: BLENDED - Learning is done MAINLY online using interactive study materials in Canvas. Students receive guidance and support from online instructors via discussion forums and emails. This is supplemented with SOME face-to-face sessions. If the course has an exam component, this will be administered on-campus.

Synopsis:

Urban Sociology studies the significance of cities in the social, economic, and political lives of contemporary societies. It introduces students to the discipline of urban sociology, to facilitate students' learning on how to examine the city through the perspectives of various social theorists and urban scholars. In doing so, this class combines theoretical materials with students' experiences in living in Singapore as one of Asia's global cities.

The challenge to conduct an urban sociology class in Singapore is that the existing theories on cities largely originated from Europe and the United States, while cities have geographically and culturally distinct features that render them unique. Therefore, students are expected to learn about the influences of those distinct features on urban life, to understand the impact of globally interlinked cities, to discover how social problems arise and how to identify the root causes in the urban context.

Topics:

- Studying the city: approaches; the city and social theory
- Theoretical perspectives on the city: urbanism; urban ecology; postmodernism; comparative urbanism; southeast asian context
- Urban political economy, consumption, and socio-spatial analysis
- Urban diversity and global cities: globalisation and diversity; gendered spaces
- Social Inequality and Urban Problems: housing and education; the shadow economy in southeast asian cities; urban social movements
- Planning the urban environment: planning; urban utopia; the entrepreneurial city

Textbooks:

Rimmer, Peter J. and Howard Dick.: The City in Southeast Asia: Patterns, Processes and Policy. 2nd
Singapore: NUS Press
ISBN-13: 9789971694265

John J. Macionis and Vincent N. Parrillo.: Urban Sociology. (Customised textbook)(etext) Pearson
ISBN-13: 9789814648356

Learning Outcome:

- Discuss cultural, economic, political, and social forces in urban development and human behavior
- Recognise social problems in the city and their relationships with social structure and agency
- Outline the role of social institutions in urban planning, visions, and realities
- Compare and appraise different models of the city
- Examine contemporary issues and interests in Southeast Asian cities
- Analyze socio-cultural and political patterns through the urban fabric
- Apply theories, knowledge and models to analyse real-world urban settings, spaces and planning
- Develop critical research skills for a case analysis

Assessment Strategies (Evening Class):

Components	Description	Weightage Allocation (%)
Overall Continuous Assessment	PRE-CLASS QUIZ 1	10
	TUTOR-MARKED ASSIGNMENT 1	20
	TUTOR-MARKED ASSIGNMENT 2	20
Overall Examinable Components	ECA	50
Total		100